VERTEX®

Vertex Cloud for the multi-seller platform

Automation to streamline tax operations and support growth for multi-seller platform providers and merchants.

Flexible tax solution

Tax regulations continue to evolve for third-party sales on multi-seller platforms, and jurisdictions across the U.S. and worldwide are interpreting the laws in different ways — even the definition of a "marketplace" is not always clear. This leaves a complex patchwork of rules and increased audit risk for platform providers and sellers.

Vertex provides a centralized solution with continually updated tax content and flexible delivery models to provide reliable tax determination for third-party transactions on multi-seller platforms.

Vertex Cloud Indirect Tax enables multi-seller platform providers to deliver best-in-class sales, use, and value-added tax determination capability to the sellers/merchants on their platforms in a streamlined, cost-efficient way. It's a reliable cloud-based service for sellers, and a centralized, scalable tax solution for platform providers.

Delivery model options

Vertex offers options to meet platform providers where they are today and support them as they grow. Vertex Cloud Indirect Tax can be delivered in multiple ways:

- Single account model: The platform provider configures a single Vertex Cloud account and all seller/merchant transactions are processed through the same taxpayer. This enables maximum visibility for the provider.

- Multiple account model: The platform provider offers each merchant its own Vertex Cloud account to support its unique business needs and transactions. The merchants can create their own taxpayers, configure their own products, and run their own reports.
